To Helen Eliza (Benson) Garrison No.42

«Paris» "The matter of absorbing interest to me, while I am gone, will be the state of your health and spirits ..." Asks about Miss Andrews's magnetic treatments and suggests the use of the galvanic battery. Urges Mrs. G. to walk as much as possible and to swing her paralyzed arm. Assumes that Mrs.O. Johnson has gone home, but expects her to return if needed. Refers to Julia Randall. Will remain in Europe until October Discusses the Villards' plans. Was surprised at the news of Lydia Spooner's death. Saw an "immense military demonstration" at the Bois de Boulogne. Dined with Mme Coignet and Miss Dowling, "who have be[illegible]t the head of the Freedmen's movement in Paris." Met [illegible] Turgenef and Prof. Edouard Laboulaye. Has heard nothin[illegible]rom G. Thompson. He and F. J.

To Helen Eliza (Benson) Garrison No.48

:Huntly Lodge, Edinburgh: Letters from Mrs. G. and others took 16 days to reach him. Was glad to hear that Miss Houghton's treatment had effected an improvement in Mrs. G.'s physical condition. Says that his own health has greatly improved. H. Villard's father is very ill, so Fanny may not be able to return to America with W.L.G. Refers to his visit to John Mawson. "Newspapers throughout the Kingdom ... are vieing with each other in extolling my labors, sacrifices and successes in the cause of the American slaves ... The manner in which I have everywhere been received has taken me wholly by surprise ..." Praises [illegible] E. (P.) Nichol's hospitality. :Glasgow, (Scotland): Was hospitably received at the home of A. F. Stoddard. Leaves for London on the following day and expects to go to Paris from there. His plans depend on the progress of the illness of H. Villard's father. Was given a cordial welcome in Glasgow. Thinks that his visit to Great Britain may have strengthened "the ties of amity between England and America." Says that it is very hard to say farewell to the addressee. Tells of invitations he has received to visit Bradford (near Leeds) and a Temperance meeting in London.

To "My dear Friend" «Anne Warren Weston»

«Dublin, (Ireland)» The writer is greatly relieved by a letter from the addressee, as he was troubled by the thought of being a "bother" at an excursion to Westminister Abbey (see Letter No.70). He enjoys a good long talk with the addressee, who has "the gift of talking in higher perfection & in a pleasanter way than anyone else I ever «talked» with ..." The writer has followed the course of the Garrisons through letters from Fanny (Mrs. Fanny (Garrison) Villard) and Frank (Francis Jackson Garrison), as well as from Elizabeth Nichol (?) "who had their company a week and enjoyed it immensely." The writer thinks of Garrison as "a wonderful concentration of noble qualities." Agrees, however, with the addressee that "the jokes in his speeches would be better left out." The

.22 Southampton Street, Bloomsbury, W.C., London. "Our contemplated trip to the Highlands was completely baffled in consequence of the cold, rainy dismal weather." Fanny (G.) Villard was glad to get back to London. W.L.G. describes the residence of Arthur F. Stoddard, a nephew of Arthur Tappan. Complains of the high cost of traveling. Met Andrew Paton in Glasgow, and was told that Catherine Paton was in poor health. Urges continuation of Miss Houghton's treatment. Cannot make definite plans concerning his European trip on account of H. Villard's father's illness. Fanny Villard will probably not return to Boston with him[illegible] himself will come home sooner to save money. Sarah P. [illegible]d, Mary A. Estlin and Mrs. G. Thompson called on him.

Lucerne, (Switzerland). Expresses regret at the loneliness his absence must have caused. Hopes that Mrs. M. A. (W.) Johnson will continue to stay with Mrs. G. Has not climbed any more mountains on account of his sore feet. Gives his traveling plans. F. J. Garrison will return with him, but he does not know if the Villards will also do so. Mr. & Mrs. Miller (Gerrit Smith's daughter), Anne W. Weston and Dr. H. I. Bowditch will be with him on the steamer. Sarah Bradford has returned to America. Discusses Mrs. G.'s new maid. Advises the continued employment of Miss Houghton. Speaks of his financial stituation. The postage bill will be very heavy. "The elections look[illegible]rse to the Republicans ... So much for delaying the imp[illegible]ment of the President."

‹Frankfort-on-the-Main, (Germany)› Describes the view from the Rigi, a mountain near Lucerne, Zurich and Constance. The H. Villards went to Munich. H. Villard's return to the U.S. depends on his being able to make a satisfactory arrangement with Horace White of the Chicago Tribune. W.L.G. and F. J. Garrison went to Stuttgart, Germany. Wants to thank Mrs. M. A. (W.) Johnson for a letter concerning Mrs. G.'s physical condition. Hopes Mrs. G. continues with her treatments. Is glad to hear that Lloyd Garrison resembles him and that Agnes Garrison "is developing in mind and person." Gives his itinerary and a list of engagements in England. «London» Considers Frankfort-on-the-Main more American "in the general appearance of the inhabitants and in the style of many of its residences" than other German cities. Lost two trunks in transit between Lucerne, Paris and London. Is to attend a reception to be given by a Committee of the National Freedmen's Aid Union. Mentions other meetings to be held in behalf of the freedmen. The Villards hesitate to return to America owing to the high cost of living and the lack of a satisfactory agreement between Horace White of the Chicago Tribune and H. Villard. F. W. Chesson could give no information concerning G. Thomps[illegible] Met Dr. H. I. Bowditch on the boat from Calais to Dover[illegible]ne W. .Bristol (England). The writer assures the addressee of her constant thoughts, especially during the time spent with Garrison. Hopes to see Garrison and the addressee's sister sail, and revive memories of the addressee's departure in 1855 and Garrison's in 1846. The writer's desire to go to America is "only lulled for the winter season, not abated." The writer has been able to gather some knowledge of Garrison's method of treating the Freedmen's Aid question. Garrison was perplexed about "the right mode of dealing with the sectarian element," which affects the British subscriptions. The writer and Garrison talked about th[illegible]tandard; he tried to enlighten Mr.Webb, but the latter "ha[illegible]o have his idols broken." The writer enjoyed Mr.Dicey's Ru[illegible]an notes, "doubly because they came from the pen of your son in law."

To Wendell Phillips Garrison No.67

<Roxbury, (Mass.)> Accepts an invitation of O. Johnson to come to New York and stay at Mrs. S. J. Savin's boarding-house. Has an appointment with Mrs. Vizcarrondo, so he won't be able to go to Orange until late afternoon. Describes a meeting in Cambridge at which C. E. Norton presided, and R. H. Dana made an address in behalf of the Freedmen's cause. Gives family news and reports the birth of James Mott Hallowell. "William has been doing a very satisfactory business in wool the present month."

To Alfred H. Love No.66

«Roxbury, (Mass.)» Thanks A. H. L. for welcoming him home. Discusses his European trip. Doubts if he can attend meetings called to promote "Peace, Equal Rights, Temperance, etc." owing to a reluctance to leave home, and an inability to endure much fatigue and exposure. Says he is again thinking of writing a history of the Anti-Slavery cause. Stresses the importance of the Freedmen's cause. Is shocked at seeing Mrs. E. (C.) Stanton and Susan B. Anthony "travelling about the country with that harlequin and semi-lunatic, George Francis Train, in advocacy of Woman's Rights ..." They have been denouncing Henry Ward [illegible]cher and W. Phillips.

To William Ingersoll Bowditch

[Boston] A reply to W. I. B.'s letter dated Mar.30,1868 (No. 77) "... I see no justification what ever for the course you are resolved to pursue in regard to Mr. Jackson's legacy ..." Says that if the Court had held that the money should be paid to the National Anti-Slavery Standard, he and his fellow trustees would have quickly paid it over. (Apparently the New England Freedmen's Aid Commission has not yet received the legacy.)

‹Rockledge› Received the letter containing the money repaid by Rev. George Porter. Complains that Peter Sinclair has failed to pay back $20 that he borrowed. Mentions a man named John Marshall Young, who is seeking employment. Discusses W. Phillips's failure to answer his last letter about the proceedings in the F. Jackson will case. Sends his correspondence with W. I. Bowditch for J. M. McKim and Oliver Johnson to read. Hoped that W. I. Bowditch "would evince a different spirit." Does not see what can be done about getting the legacy paid over to the New England Freedmen's Aid Commission. Remarks on how li[illegible] J. M. McKim's efforts in behalf of the freedmen have [illegible] appreciated by the "Phillips clique." Is recovering from an attack of influenza. Reports a snowstorm.

«Roxbury, (Mass.)» Writing for the Independent is his principal source of income. Complains about the high cost of living. Praises the Independent for having so much "practical" material, instead of the "pious platitudes of T. L. Cuyler." Asks about a botanist named W. R. Prince, who advertises a cure for catarrh. Says that F. J. Garrison has the same trouble. Mrs. G.'s ill health worries him. She is very anxious to see Fanny (G.) Villard. H. Villard has been ill in Naples.

Roxbury, (Mass.). Discusses the publication of his contributions to the Independent. Refers to his letters to W. I. Bowditch and A. M. Powell. Says that Bowditch is very stubborn and too much under the influence of W. Phillips. Reports the proceedings of a meeting of the trustees of the F. Jackson bequest at which the payment of the money to the New England Freedmen's Aid Commission was discussed. A. M. Powell was "not really in a position to act independently." W. L.G. doubts if he can attend the Longwood meeting of the Progressive Friends, since the Villards are due to return about that time.

To Wendell Phillips Garrison

«Roxbury, (Mass.)» Wants O. Johnson to pay to W. P. G. the money due the writer for an article accepted by the Independent. W. P. G. is to use the money to buy two adding machines as Christmas presents for G. T. and F. J. Garrison. Also wants W. P. G. to buy "a three dollar musical box" for him. R. D. Webb "gets about with less difficulty than when he first came to us." Deborah Webb has also improved in health. F. J. Garrison is working for P. T. Jackson.

To Samuel Joseph May No.94

Roxbury, (Mass.). Apologizes for not writing sooner. Describes his wife's recent serious illness. "I believe I was something of a favorite with your now sainted wife; and how much my dear Helen loves and reveres you, you know only in part." W. L. Garrison Jr.'s baby son has just recovered from the measles. Fanny (G.) Villard's little girl is "developing finely." Is glad to hear that S. J. M.'s son John has a son, "whose name is to be Samuel Joseph." H. Villard is Secretary of the Social Science Association. R. D. Webb, who has been staying with W.L.G., has gone to Providence to join Deborah. A.L.s. 4 p. 7 7/8 x 5 in.

To Oliver Johnson

«Roxbury, (Mass.)» Tells O. J. to use his own judgment regarding articles sent to the Independent. Read O. J.'s account of his trip to New Hampshire with great interest. Discusses the writing of the Anti-Slavery history. Doubts if E. Quincy would undertake the task, but W.L.G. would be glad to join O. J. and others in asking him. Approves of the Independent's refusal to take notice of "the clerical orthodox bull issued against it in Chicago."
